

Workshop „How to Pitch My Film“

Tuesday, November 8th | 9am-4pm

7. – 13. November 2022

In Cooperation with Creative Europe Desk Hamburg

The Workshop will be held in English.

We want to look at what a good pitch is. Presenting your own film project in an interesting and convincing way in a short time is a challenge. This workshop teaches the basics of pitching and provides some tips on how to present your own ideas concisely. In small practice sessions, participants can work specifically on the pitch of a current project. The exchange in a small group makes it possible to get feedback from each other and to continue building the network to your european colleagues.

Workshop leader: Oliver Rauch

Oliver Rauch studied film and television dramaturgy at the Film University Babelsberg KONRAD WOLF. He works as a writer and director of documentaries and short films. As a dramaturge he advises authors, production companies and funding bodies. He is a lecturer at universities and film schools.

An accreditation fee of 40€ is payable for participation. In return, participants receive free access to all other events of the festival. A catering fee of 18€ will be charged.

Registration until October 26th to lindlar@filmfest-braunschweig.de

A participation requirement is a current project, all formats and lengths are welcome. Please send a 1-page project presentation that includes the following:

- Data of the participating person (photo, contact details, biographical information)
- Information about the current project (synopsis, project data, previous stages of the project [awards, funding], next steps...)

We are looking forward to your projects!
